

8 KEY FACTS ABOUT

Antidumping and Countervailing Duties

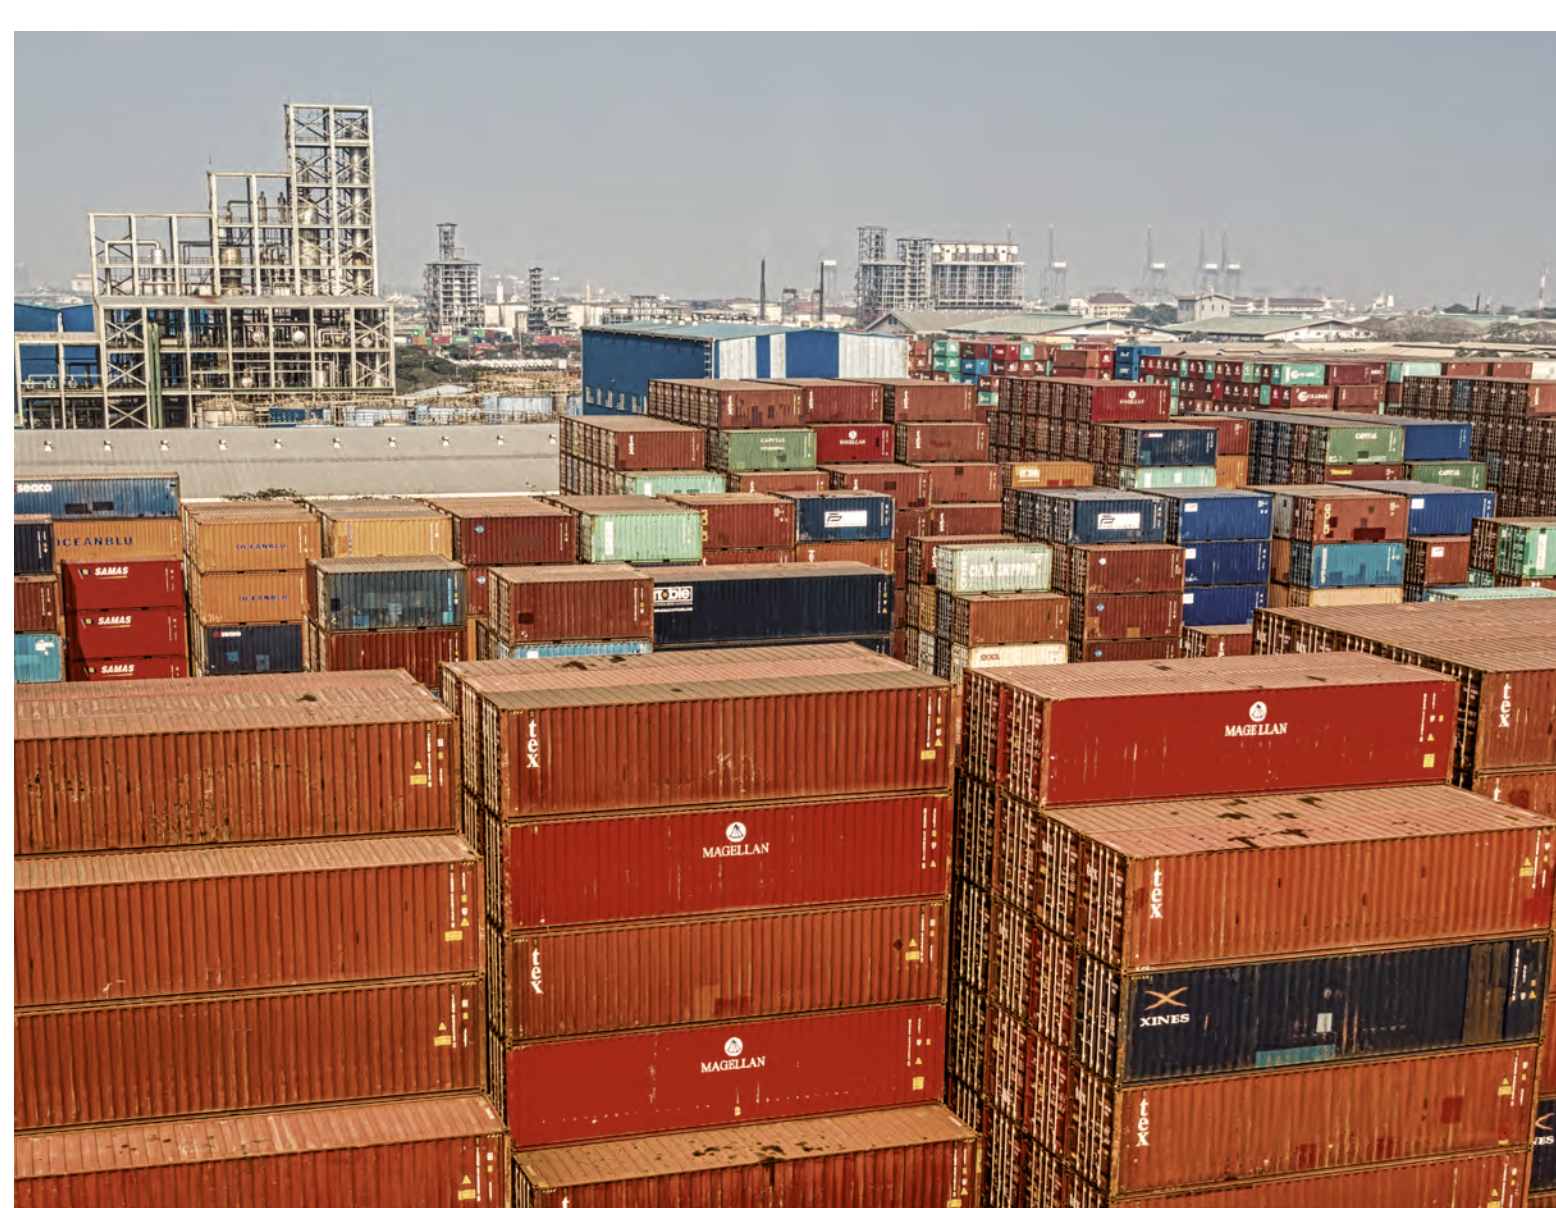

Protecting U.S. workers and domestic manufacturing from unfairly priced imports

Maintaining the United States' manufacturing base has received heightened recognition from the White House and Congress in recent years. This has opened the door for domestic manufacturers to fight back against unfair import competition. Now, with the help of experienced and aggressive AD/CVD counsel, U.S. manufacturers are finally getting the relief they deserve.

Know the Numbers

For any domestic producer facing low priced import competition and considering action, here are 8 facts that you need to know.

Importing & Trade Trends

The U.S. imported $506.4 billion of goods from China in 2021, up 16.5% from the prior year.¹

The current Chinese trade deficit of $355.3 billion continues to steadily rise.²

The most recent report from the U.S. government indicates that $18.2 billion worth of imports were subject to antidumping (AD) or countervailing duty (CVD) orders.³

The AD/CVD Opportunity

Customs and Border Protection (CBP) is currently enforcing over 660 AD/CVD orders – this figure continues to grow.⁴

AD/CVD investigations are time efficient and cannot take longer than 13 months to complete. Cash deposits on imports can begin within 4 months of filing petitions – getting your business fast relief.

Successful antidumping cases frequently result in revenue increases in the first year that are multiples of the legal expenses incurred.

Pursuing AD/CVD investigations can be quite successful. The vast majority of these cases produce a favorable outcome for the businesses that pursue them.

AD/CVD orders are no longer just for big brands. Small- and medium-sized businesses are bringing these cases more than ever.
